

Predictive analytics encompasses a variety of techniques from statistical analysis, mathematical modeling and data mining that analyzes current and historical facts in order to make predictions about likely future events. In business, predictive models exploit patterns found in historical and transactional data to identify risks and opportunities. Ms. Ugone will describe the use of predictive analytics in the auditing profession and show how this application has been useful for guiding auditors to select and review candidate transactions.